

Relational hubs are already having a powerful impact; supporting practitioners, fostering collaboration, and driving meaningful change; they are a dynamic and inclusive space dedicated to transforming social care through relational, ethical, and justice-led practices.

IT'S TIME FOR OUR REGION TO HAVE ITS OWN SPACE FOR CONNECTION, REFLECTION, AND ACTION.

What is Relational Practice?

Relational practice is a values-based, collaborative approach that centres relationships at the heart of care. It's a way of working that believes more can be achieved acting together than can be envisaged alone. It's about:

- Being present and human in our work
- Listening deeply and acting together
- Offering tailored, flexible support—not command-and-control interventions
- Navigating systems with people, not for them

NEXT MEETING:

8TH OCTOBER 2025. 7PM, BURY ST EDMUNDS

We're inviting you to a relaxed evening get-together; a chance to talk, reflect, and explore what this Hub could be. There's no pressure, no plan, no hierarchy - just a group of professionals coming together to share, learn, and support one another in a space that may be missing from our current practice.

Whether you're working with Children, Adults, Mental Health, Residential, Fostering, Supported Accommodation, Voluntary, Local Authority, or Private we aim to be extensive and inclusive - The more explorative, curious and creative we can be the better.

If you want to reach out to find out more please contact us at relational.movement@Fevaca.co.uk We would love for you to join us as we build a future where relational practice is at the heart of social care in our region.
